

Sample Assessment

1. What are two real-world examples of scientific problems that could benefit from parallelization? Why?
2. Command-line arguments are a common occurrence in scientific computing applications. What is their purpose?
3. What is an agent-based model?